EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The scenes on our television screens of leaders of the major nations of the world including the President of the United States arriving in New Delhi for the G20 summit and later being greeted at the newly minted Bharat Mandapam by Prime Minister Modi signalled to all our citizens, that India is as capable as any in the world in organising such a meeting of Heads of State and Government.

Coming on the heels of our Chandrayaan-3 Moon landing and the gold medal by javelinist Neeraj Chopra at the World Athletic Championship, here was yet another indicator that India had arrived on the world stage. There is an upbeat mood in the country. Self-belief is now rampant especially amongst our younger generations. While India that is Bharat has many more challenges to resolve and many more 'miles to go before we can sleep,' this self-confidence in the nation will carry us the distance. This is a major accomplishment from our successful hosting of the G20 summit.

Hosting the G20 summit has not merely taught us in India how to build the necessary hard infrastructure but also the soft skills that are necessary for organising a successful summit of world leaders. It has pushed us to achieve goals we were not accustomed to laying down for ourselves. It has forced us to think Big. It has shown us that we are second to none in planning and executing such events. It has taught us to keep raising the bar so as to achieve greater heights.

The time has come for India to bid for and host the Olympic Games.

Direction boards needed at Chamundi Hill parking lot

Sir,

The availability of ample multi-layered parking space at the Chamundi Hill has really mitigated the earlier perennial parking issues faced by the visitors to the Hill.

In the parking lot, "Way to Exit" is prominently displayed at all vantage points, thus helping the motorists for an easy exit after visiting the temple.

Unfortunately the authorities have over-looked to fix boards at the parking lot giving directions towards the Temple.

Recently during my visit to the Hill Shrine, a family from outside Karnataka were moving towards the opposite direction from the basement parking to visit Sri Chamundeshwari Temple.

Also I noticed the team of percussionists of the Hill Temple doing a "decent begging" right outside the sanctum sanctorum.

Are these percussionists not being compensated for the work they perform by the Hill Temple authorities ? Will the concerned look into the above?

KSOU issues clarification on recognition of academic programmes

Mysuru, Sept. 12 (DM)- Following reports in a section of the press expressing doubts on recognition of KSOU academic courses/ programmes by the UGC, the city-based KSOU (Karnataka State Open University) has issued a clarification in this regard.

In a press release dated Sept. 11, the KSOU said that the UGC has communicated the decision of Interface Expert Committee meeting in a letter (dated June 16, 2023) stating that the recognition period shall start from the 2023-24 academic session beginning July-August, 2023 and onwards and that the last date for completion of the admission process for offering programmes in ODL (Open Distance Learning) mode is Aug. 31. However, based on the representations received by HEIs (Higher Education Institutions) to extend the last date of admission, the Commission, in a meeting held on July 25, decided that the last date of admission for all the HEIs for offering Online and/or ODL programmes for the academic session beginning July-August 2023 be extended to Sept. 30, 2023.

Also, all HEIs recognised/entitled to offer programmes through ODL and/or Online mode shall comply with the decisions of the UGC, failing which UGC will take punitive action as per Regulation 7(3) of UGC (ODL Programmes & Online Programmes), Regulations, 2020, the release said.

Alumnus alleges non-recognition of KSOU programme

The KSOU's clarification comes after an Alumnus of the KSOU on Monday accused the University of starting admissions even though it had no official recognition for its programmes in the 2023-24 academic session. Addressing a press meet here on Sunday, A.S. Nandish, an Alumnus of KSOU, alleged that the University had started student admissions even though it does not have UGC recognition for its ODL or Online programmes (2023-24).

Maintaining that about 95,000 students who joined KSOU courses/programmes in 2013-14 and 2014-15 are yet to get UGC recognition, Nandish accused the KSOU of playing with the lives of students. He warned that the students may have to face a similar situation again this year.

He also urged the Govt. to take action against the Vice-Chancellor, Registrar and other officials for admitting students without any official and authentic recommendation by the UGC.

Mysuru to run 200 more electric buses under PM-eBus SEWA Scheme

Centre to procure 10,000 electric buses covering 169 cities including Mysuru, at an estimated cost of Rs. 57,613 crore

By Bapu Lingaraj Urs

Mysuru, Sept. 12- With a vision to combat environmental pollution, the Central Government plans to procure 10,000 electric buses at an estimated cost of Rs. 57,613 crore through its PM-eBus Sewa Scheme. Mysuru is one of 169 cities in the country set to benefit, with an impressive addition of 200 eco-friendly buses hitting the local roads.

The Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) has already been operating eight electric buses on the Mysuru-Bengaluru route since July 2023. With the expansion of the fleet under the PM-eBus Sewa Scheme, it is expected to enhance the transportation network, serving both urban and rural routes.

The Central Government has signed an MoU with electric vehicle manufacturers, paving the way for the operation of a total of 10,000 buses in 169 cities by the end of the year.

The transition from traditional fuel-powered buses to electric ones holds the promise of not only improving connectivity but also addressing unemployment rates, as thousands of jobs are expected to be created in the automobile sector alone.

However, there are still gaps in connectivity, with the number of buses not meeting the demands of commuters on both urban and rural routes. Some villages lack bus connectivity, causing significant inconvenience to residents. Additionally, older buses operating on rural routes are prone to frequent breakdowns, with worn-out seats in some cases.

Since the launch of the Shakti Scheme in June 2023, which offers free rides to women on KSRTC buses within the State, buses have been consistently running at full capacity. The introduction of more electric buses through the PM-eBus Sewa Scheme could alleviate some of the challenges faced in the public transportation sector. Furthermore, this transition not only ensures a pollution-free environment but also reduces heavy reliance on diesel and mitigates carbon dioxide emissions.

Electric vehicles, which initially gained traction in the two-wheeler and car sectors, are now expanding to buses as the Central Government strives to match the EV adoption levels of developed countries.

In accordance with Transport Department regulations, buses that are 15 years old must be retired, and there are several such buses in the KSRTC Mysuru Division alone. If 200 EV buses are introduced to the fleet, an equal number of old buses will be phased out.

Srinivas, the Divisional Controller of KSRTC's Mysuru Division, stated: "We have already submitted a report to the Government outlining the need for 200 electric buses. While the retirement of old buses is imminent, a decision regarding the specific routes for the new electric buses has not been finalised."

Prime Minister Narendra Modi made the significant announcement of the PM-eBus Sewa Scheme, during his Independence Day address on Aug. 15, 2023, from the Red Fort in New Delhi.

Once the Scheme is implemented, Mysuru city and district can anticipate more EV charging units, automated fee payment facilities and other technology-based services, providing a modern touch to the transportation system.

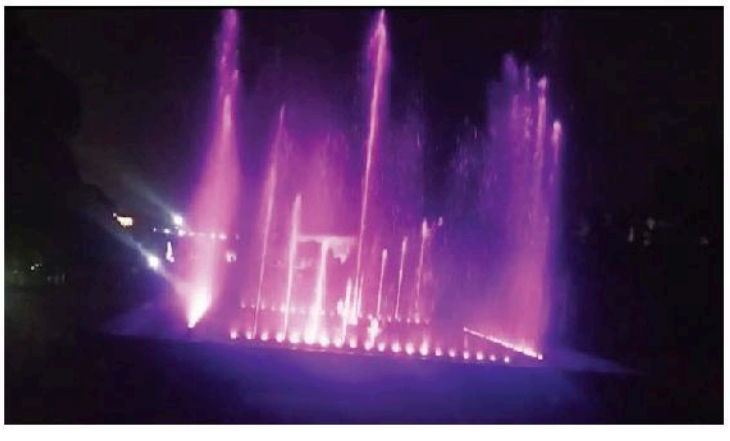
Mumbai-based Green Care Private Limited has handed over the new fountain to CNNL after completing the works.

The new fountain with nasals emitting laser, fire and snow including those of movable and rotating nasals, will dance to the beats of music, guaranteeing entertainment to the tourists. On week days, it will be available between 7 pm and 8 pm and during weekends and holidays between 7 pm and 9 pm.



For adults, the entry ticket price to Brindavan Gardens is Rs. 50 and for kids between 5 and 10 years, the ticket price is Rs. 10, while it is free for those below 5 years.

CNNL Officers told Star of Mysore that "The musical fountain will be officially kick-started on the instructions of Water Resources Minister. With Dasara festival nearing (Oct. 15 to 24), the new fountain is expected to attract more tourists, apart from thousands of footfalls at Brindavan Gardens daily."

Speaking to media persons at Mysore Palace premises last evening, DCF Kumar shared the information related to diet, medicine and practice schedule of the elephants, along with the schedule of arrival of second batch of elephants.

While the rehearsal to acclimatise elephants with the procession route is going on as per schedule, the practice of carrying weights (sandbag) will be launched on Sept. 15, with howdah elephant Abhimanyu. The half of the total weight [including that of Golden Howdah (weighing 750-kg) and materials that will be mounted on Abhimanyu on the D-day] will be mounted during the practice. The plan is to involve total four pachyderms in carrying sand bags, added DCF Kumar.

The amount of diet will be fixed on the basis of body weight of elephants. The diet includes — wet and dry grass, sugarcane, jaggery, paddy, coconut, horse grain and butter. Besides, nutrition-rich powder and medicine are fed as per the advice of veterinarians. The special focus is on 'Kanjan,' the debutant elephant, with the veterinarians providing a daily report on the health condition of all the elephants.

A full-length practice from Palace to Bannimantap (the culmination point of Jumboo Savari) was successfully conducted on last Saturday and Sunday, even amid the busy traffic that is heavy during weekend. Mahendra led the elephants on return journey from Bannimantap to Palace on Saturday, while on Sunday, Gopi led the elephants. Likewise, different elephants are made to lead the practice sessions.

With Jumboo Savari procession (that forms the last leg of Dasara on Oct. 24) scheduled to start around 5 pm, the elephants are taken out on dry run till Bannimantap during the same time on weekends, while it will be cut short till old RMC junction on the week days.

The new entrant to Dasara, Kanjan is showing maturity in his behaviour, showing no signs of any fear during practice sessions, said the DCF.

Behaviour of all the elephants will be observed during practice, based on which they will be finalised for the roles of 'Nishane Aane', 'Naupat Aane' and 'Pattada Aane'. However, there is no decision yet on them.

Mahouts and Kavadis of Dasara elephants playing volleyball at the Mysore Palace premises during their free time after the routine training of jumbos.

"Nobody can even tick him off as a new entrant, as Kanjan ambles with ease along with other elephants in the line, without even fearing to the sound of honking on road. He also led the practice session once from the front that explains it all," added DCF Saurabh Kumar.

The second batch of elephants is expected to arrive in the last week of this month, but the schedule is not finalised yet. Three elephants will be arriving in the second batch — Hiranya and Rohit from Ramapura camp and Lakshmi from Dodda Harave, which are also making their Dasara debut.

Cleanliness is maintained around the area of bathing elephants (on Palace premises near Jayamarthanda Gate). While adequate toilet facility is provided for Mahouts and Kavadis of the elephants. Tent School is also ready for the education of children of Mahouts and Kavadis. The Education Department Officers have inspected the Tent School, which will start functioning after the arrival of all the children. For now, the children are provided with carom, volleyball and cricket kits, added DCF Kumar.

'Make Kannada one-point programme during Dasara'

Hamsalekha, who spoke during an interaction programme organised by the Mysuru District Journalists Association (MDJA) at Pathrakartara Bhavan in the city this morning, asserted that "There has been a continuous conflict related to language and the border. Amid this, Kannada may lose its strength, which has to be stabilised by reinforcing the rights of the language and enrich its identity further."

"We want Delhi, but Delhi doesn't need Kannada," underlined Hamsalekha saying that 'the imposition of Hindi language is nothing new.'

To a query on the State facing drought, but the Government intending to organise Dasara on a grand scale, instead of toning down the celebrations to keep it simple, Hamsalekha chose to say that "We should respond to the grievances of the farmers and ensure justice to them by providing a suitable market for farm produces. Instead of building 'Smart Cities', the thrust should be on building 'Village Cities' to ensure a flourishing future for the farmers."

When asked about Mahisha Dasara (Oct. 13) being organised in parallel to Dasara by a section of progressive thinkers, Hamsalekha shot back saying 'How can we rake up such issues.'

When asked whether he will accept the invitation to inaugurate Mahisha Dasara too, Hamsalekha asked 'Is it possible to inaugurate two events?'

On Kannada film industry being mum over the ongoing Cauvery Movement on sharing Cauvery water with Tamil Nadu, Hamsalekha said: "There are several other organisations too, which are silent over the long-running dispute."

On film lyrics still considered as 'second grade literature', Hamsalekha said, he has no qualms over the art of writing film lyrics not granted the status of literature, as it is now billed as left, right and middle path (ideologies). However, he strongly voiced for developing a Film City in Mysuru with a royal touch, as it was in the city of Mysuru that studios made a start. Unlike Bengaluru, Mysuru boasts of adequate lands to realise the long-pending project. If it becomes a reality, no MNCs should be involved in running the show, he said in a categorical tone.

Karnataka Film Chamber of Commerce (KFCC) is like a 'Ship without captain', as it is split among the lobby of directors, artistes and producers. There are 250 new Directors and 500 Film Producers, who don't have any ties with the Chamber. The focus is on making Pan-India cinema, with most of them restricted to 'action and reaction', sans any songs, said Hamsalekha sarcastically.

When asked about the raging controversy over 'Sanatana Dharma', Hamsalekha declined to comment.

'Nalwadi's dream turns into reality'

Thanking the State Government for bestowing the coveted honour to inaugurate Dasara-2023, Hamsalekha said: "By selecting me, the dream of erstwhile ruler Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar is also becoming a reality. Nalwadi wanted every sections of the society to get their due, which is justified with me getting the privilege of inaugurating Dasara."

Hamsalekha further said: "I had recommended the names of Sarod exponent Pandit Rajeev Taranath and folk expert Go.Ru. Channabasappa to be considered to inaugurate Dasara. But Chief Minister Siddharamaiah conveyed that Dasara High Power Committee has selected my name to inaugurate Dasara, to which I had to oblige."

"The lamp I will be lighting on the day of inauguration of Dasara represents the feelings of the people of the State," said Hamsalekha in a poetic tone.

MDJA President S.T. Ravikumar (RK), City Vice-President M.S. Basavanna (Anurag Basavaraj), Rural Vice-President Dharmapura Narayan and City Secretary Rangaswamy were present on the occasion.

Prioritise public concerns, social justice delivery: CM to officials

Siddharamaiah chairs meeting of DCs, ZP CEOs of all districts in Bengaluru

Bengaluru, Sept. 12 (KMS& BCT)- In a candid address during a conference held this noon, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah asked Deputy Commissioners (DCs), Zilla Panchayat CEOs and Tahsildars to prioritise the concerns of public and expedite the delivery of social justice.

The Chief Minister stressed that Government officials must diligently work to meet the expectations of the people in their respective regions. Accompanied by his Deputy, D.K. Shivakumar, along with several Cabinet colleagues and senior officers, including Chief Secretary Vandita Sharma, Siddharamaiah convened a meeting with all Deputy Commissioners and ZP CEOs at the Vidhana Soudha's Conference Hall.

"Officials must demonstrate competence and integrity in addressing the needs of the local populace, as the Government fundamentally represents the trust of the people. Just as the people trust their Government, you must respond to local issues. Neglecting local problems may lead to constituents seeking assistance directly from me," Siddharamaiah said.

He further underscored the importance of regular public contact meetings between MLAs, taluk-level officials and the public to promptly address local issues. Siddharamaiah questioned the purpose of officials' roles if they do not address smaller concerns brought to his attention.

Siddharamaiah stated, "Since becoming CM, I have visited many districts where ordinary citizens present me with numerous grievances. We should tackle problems at the district and taluk levels. Failure to provide timely solutions to local issues means you are not performing your duties correctly, even if it takes five years."

The CM stressed the imperative of delivering social justice without unnecessary delays, stating, "Justice delayed is justice denied and fosters corruption. Delay itself constitutes corruption."

He called upon Deputy Commissioners to process applications within three months and handle public petitions within six months.

Siddharamaiah emphasised expeditious case handling, penalties for defaulters and prompt verdict issuance to ensure Government schemes and programmes benefit society's most vulnerable.

He made it clear that bureaucratic delays in case hearings would not be tolerated and called for stringent procedural measures. Pointing out inefficiencies in district administration, Siddharamaiah urged surprise visits and daily activity logs. He inquired about shortcomings in social security schemes and drinking water supply in specific districts.

Reminding officials of their responsibilities, he encouraged them to use the provided vehicles and communication facilities, questioning their absence from Government offices, schools, hostels, and hospitals under their jurisdiction, as well as the performance of their subordinates.

Siddharamaiah directed DCs and CEOs to hold meetings in all districts to address public grievances swiftly, with District in-charge Ministers and officials participating. Detailed reports of these meetings and actions taken on raised issues or problems should be submitted to the Government, he added.

National Green Tribunal

Upon preliminary assessment, the Court noted that there had been rainfall on Aug. 27 in areas such as Vijayanagar, Dattagalli and Bogadi, which could have resulted in water inflow carrying pollutants and organic matter into the Lake. The decomposition and putrefaction of these materials likely caused a decrease in oxygen levels in the water, ultimately leading to the fish mortality. This incident clearly signifies a breach of environmental regulations and the provisions outlined in the relevant Act, the NGT said.

The NGT has formed a Joint Committee, consisting of the Member-Secretary of KSPCB, the Member-Secretary of CPCB in Bengaluru, and the District Magistrate of Mysuru. The Mysuru DC will act as the coordinating and compliance authority within this Committee.

The Committee's responsibilities encompass visiting the site, collecting samples, obtaining any existing analysis reports from KSPCB and the State Fisheries Department, and determining the exact cause of the fish deaths. Furthermore, they will take appropriate action against any parties found in violation of the law and recommend remedial measures.

The Committee is required to submit its comprehensive report to the Tribunal within six weeks. As this matter falls within the jurisdiction of the Southern Zone Bench of the Tribunal, it is transferred for further proceedings to be listed on Dec. 1, 2023. The Registry has been instructed to transmit the case records to the Southern Zone Bench in Chennai. Additionally, a copy of this order will be sent to KSPCB, CPCB and the Deputy Commissioner of Mysuru via e-mail for compliance, the Court noted.

Moonlight music, Manjunaada events enthral music-lovers

By Dr. Rama V. Bennur

The Moonlight Music of JSS Mutt, Mysuru, which happens on every full moon day attracts many music lovers of Mysuru. It caters to all variety of listeners. Classical, Light, Instrumental, Karnatak, Hindustani and even fusion. It doesn't lag behind in encouraging talented and upcoming young artistes. Thanks to the guiding force behind this.

Recently young Spoorthi Rao from Bengaluru performed for a packed audience (31.8.23). A child prodigy, she is a very familiar figure on YouTube. Now she is a teenager, manifested in to a successful singer who can venture confidently into any area of classical music. Spoorthi Rao was accompanied by C.V. Shruthi on violin, K.V. Prasad on mridanga and Sharath Kaushik on ghata respectively.

The concert began with a Varna in Bhegada Inthachala. She effortlessly sang the varna in two speeds and gave a brief introduction of the Raga Nata. Puranadara Dasa's 'Vandisuvudadiyali' was perfect with a frill of Kalpana Swaras. She had already established her confidence in Manodharma Sangeetha. The alapana of Varali proved it again. Her enthusiasm in giving her best is evident in every phrase. Matured manodharma indulges in time-tested phrases that are pleasing & attractive. The flawless rendering of the raga had a clear accent, intonation. Young Shruthi was also at her best. Muthuswami Dikshitar's 'Sheshachala nayakam bhajami' was perfect with a crowning Swara Kalpana. The rhythmical explorations were stunning.

Bengaluru's Spoorthi Rao and team performing at Suttur Mutt in city on Aug. 31.

Shyama Shastri's evergreen 'Mayamma anine' (Aahiri) with a soothing effect paved way to a fast number 'Idi nyayama Sri Ramachandra' of Patnam in the Raga Malavi. Main raga of the day was Sarasangi. It was a brilliant interpretation of the raga. She is blessed with a voice that is bold and can traverse easily in different octaves. Naturally her alapanas are colourful and vigorous. Jayachamarajendra Wadiyar's 'Sadashivamupasmahe' was the right choice. Vocal prowess at this young age is astonishing. Senior mridangist Prasad provided fantastic accompaniment along with young Sharath. To sum up, youngsters like Spoorthi are welcome to the classical arena. She has a bright future.

Manjunaada

Ganabharathi had arranged a programme on the 1st of September which was slightly different. Members of Mani Krishnaswamy Academy presented compositions on the holy place Dharmasthala and its main deity Sri Manjunatha. Nityananda Rao, the Secretary of the Academy, is the guiding force. He was driven by the fact that there are hardly any musical compositions on Dharmasthala and took the initiation to pen down a few songs and entrusted many scholars to write the lyrics in praise of Lord Manjunatha and sanctity of the place. The compositions were tuned by Vidwan Rajkumar Bharathi. It is his mission to train them and popularise them.

Blessed by Dr. Veerendra Heggade, Nityananda Rao has trained a team of singers who started to perform only these compositions. They performed at Veene Sheshanna Bhavana of Mysuru for the first time.

The young artistes were Shreya Kolathaya, Adithi Prahlad, Usha Ramakrishna Bha , P.S. Sunada and Smruthi Bhaskar. They were accompanied by C.V. Shruthi on violin and Nandan Kashyap on mridanga. They started with a Varna in the raga Natakuranji, set to Adi Taala, written by Nityananda Rao. There were lyrics by Shathavadhani Ganesh, M. Narayana, Dr. Hemavathi Hegde, Kadathoka Manjunatha Bhagavatar and Muralidhara Bhat. The singers showcased their manodharma in Alapana and Kalpana Swaras.

All the kritis presented were in perfect unison. The synchronisation was stunning. They literally captured the listener's attention.

Chalanata, Revathi, Hemavathi, Todi, Dwijavanthi, Patdeep and Madhyamavathi were very well handled. Kudos to this young team of singers.

Anthropological Museum turns into an immersive learning hub

Tailor-made programmes cater to diverse age groups and subjects, kindling interest in anthropology

Mysuru, Sept. 12 (BCT)- Mysuru's Anthropological Museum at Bogadi Second Stage under the purview of the Anthropological Survey of India (AnSI), has transformed into a vibrant and immersive educational destination, drawing many school students in just a few months.

Previously celebrated for its extensive collection of cultural artefacts, the Museum has reinvented itself as a dynamic learning space, enhancing the academic experiences of students from various educational institutions by delving into the 'Saga of Man in Time and Space.'

Once solely a repository of anthropological treasures, the Museum has reshaped its mission by collaborating with local schools to offer interactive educational programmes, complemented by engaging visits, documentary screenings and Museum quizzes.

Students are now able to delve into the world of anthropology through hands-on activities, guided tours and interactive sessions conducted within the Museum's premises. This transformation has effectively turned the Anthropological Museum into a captivating and experiential extension of the classroom.

In recent months, the Anthropological Museum has witnessed a remarkable surge in school visits, with an impressive number of students participating. This surge signifies a significant milestone in the Museum's journey toward becoming an educational destination, according to Dr. Banita Behera, the Museum's in-charge and Curator.

Dr. Mithun Sikdar, the Head of Office for the AnSI, stated that the influx of students into the Museum has surpassed previous records, underscoring the resounding success of its new approach to education. Teachers and students alike have lauded the Museum's efforts in creating a distinctive and impactful learning environment for school students.

The Museum's commitment to this educational endeavour has led to the development of tailor-made educational programmes that cater to diverse age groups and subjects, thereby enhancing students' understanding of anthropology, both in terms of tangible and intangible cultural heritage.

Celebrating Mahisha Dasara a Constitutional right: Prof. Mahesh Chandra Guru

Mysuru, Sept. 12 (BLU&BS)- In a pointed response to critics of Mahisha Dasara, retired Professor B.P. Mahesh Chandra Guru said that celebrating the event is a Constitutional right. "We have been celebrating Mahisha Dasara while exercising the rights enshrined in our Constitution. Yet, despite this, detractors persist in causing chaos, leading us to question our very Indian identity."

He was speaking at the State-level seminar titled 'Mahisha Mandalada Adi Dore Mahishasura - Ondu Charithrika Nota' (Mahishasura: The First King of Mahisha Mandala - A Historical View).

This seminar was organised by the Mahisha Dasara Celebration Committee and the University of Mysore Research Scholars Association at the auditorium of the University Fine Arts College in Manasagangothri on Sept. 10.

Taking a firm stance, Prof. Guru labelled those opposing Mahisha Dasara as 'political terrorists' and asserted his commitment to providing them with a fitting response.

He emphasised a distinction between mythology, which he viewed as a collection of falsehoods, and history, grounded in verifiable facts.

He argued that while Chamundeshwari, a revered deity, might be considered a 'lie' in his view, Mahishasura was 'true' and deserving of recognition. He criticised attempts to perpetuate falsehoods for political gain, highlighting the importance of revealing the truth in history.

Prof. Guru condemned attempts to mislead the public and keep them in the dark, asserting that such actions amounted to a continuation of historic subjugation. He cautioned against using myths, based on falsehoods, to manipulate people, underlining that what might be seen as nourishment for some could be poison for others.

Writer Dr. Krishnamurthy Chamaram stressed the need to uncover buried truths in history and educate the majority of society about these findings.

Urilinga Peddi Mutt Seer Sri Jnanaprakash Swamiji called for preserving the integrity of history, likening it to the sanctity of a mother's womb.

The seminar's discussions and related matters concerning Mahishasura will be compiled into a book to be published on Oct. 13, with the goal of shedding light on the historical facts surrounding Mahisha.

Sri Jnanaprakash Swamiji underscored the coexistence of Chamundeshwari and Mahisha, emphasising their importance without disturbing social harmony. "There is a huge difference between Chamundeshwari and Mahisha. But we won't disturb harmony in the society, in the name of Mahisha Dasara celebrations. Like how their God is important to them, Mahisha is also important to us," said Sri Jnanaprakash Swamiji.

Writer Siddaswamy, journalist Amshi Prasannakumar, rationalist Prof. K.S. Bhagawan, Dr. Shivaraj and Dr. Chinnaswamy Sosale, were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Pareidolia

Pronunciation: pair-eye-DOH-lee-uh.
Meaning: Pareidolia refers to the tendency to perceive a specific and often meaningful image in a random or ambiguous visual pattern.
Origin: If you've ever spotted an image of a dog or a shoe in the clouds, you've exhibited what is called pareidolia, the tendency to perceive a meaningful image in a random pattern. Pareidolia emerged in English in 1962, borrowed from the German word Pareidolie, itself a combination of the Greek prefix par-, the Greek noun eídōlon ("image, reflection"), and the German suffix -ie. But although the word may be relatively new to English speakers, the concept is not. During the Renaissance, for example, artists such as Giuseppe Arcimboldo—who painted collections of fruits, vegetables, and other objects to look like human portraits—used pareidolia as a technique in their work, while Leonardo da Vinci once wrote, "... if you look at any walls spotted with various stains or with a mixture of different kinds of stones, if you are about to invent some scene you will be able to see in it a resemblance to various different landscapes adorned with mountains, rivers, rocks, trees, plains, wide valleys, and various groups of hills." So the next time you see the man or even a toad in the moon, you can think of your kinship with Da Vinci.

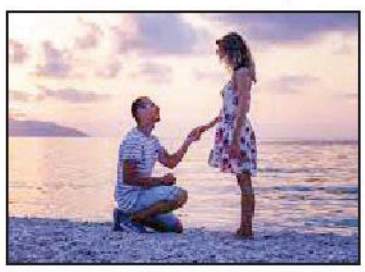
THE ODD WORD

Pallasethesia

Sense of vibration.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Pop the question



Meaning: The phrase 'Pop the question' is used when a guy to ask a lady to marry him. (Nowadays it's also common that a woman asks the man to marry her).
Origin: Even though this phrase sounds very modern and new – it was actually first heard back in the early 1500.
Example: "Michael popped the question last night! Andrea is delighted, she is more than ready to get married and settle down."

QUOTE BOX

If they can get you asking the wrong questions, they don't have to worry about answers. — Thomas Pynchon
